News From Your TOWN HALL

The City Fathers okayed the results of the Tuesday election Wednesday night. The official figures are: for the amendment concerning the Mayor being selected from among the Commission carried 128 to 74; the other amendment providing for a Municipal Court carried 129 to 65.

The Town Commission will sit as an Equalization Board on Wednesday, August 4th, from one p. m. to five o'clock.

If you have any kicking to do, or feel that any adjustments are in order be there Wednesday afternoon, or foever hold your peace.

Personal property, which has not heretofore been a generous source of revenue is expected to be given particular attention at this meeting.

—o—

City Employees will receive temporary additional compensation for the second quarter ending June 30th, 1943.

Those of less than a year's service will receive 10 per cent of the period salary; those between one year and two years 15 per cent, and two years or more 20 per cent.

Scarcity of help and inability to secure reliefs will preclude any employee actually receiving a vacation, according to reports.

—o—

Two ordinances were passed concerning the selling of food products in the Town limits, and particularly coverning meat and fish.

Under one provision any "food that is sour, decayed, rotten, spoiled, adulterated, or that contains insects or harmful bacteria" that is sold is prima facie consumption, and is a violation of the ordinance.

The food may be destroyed and the person or persons responsible subject to a fine of $200 or thirty days, or both.

To prevent foisting unfit meat or fish on the public the ordinance sets up stiff fines—$200 or 30 days—and sets out specifically just how meat and fish are to be kept and offered for sale.

Every person offering for sale and those purchascing these items would do well to study this ordinance.

Hamburger will take on a new odor and contain less ingredients that would otherwise be objectionable under this ordinance.

Miss Mabel Rashley Joining The Waves

Miss Mabel Rashley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rashley, has just been informed that she has passed the physical examination for the Waves and must report for induction on August 12th.

Miss Rashley has recently returned to Belle Glade after resigning a position in a war plant in the Detroit area.

Assessed Value Real Property Million and Three Quarters Here

The tenative tax list of real property prepared by the Town Clerk adds up to $1,732,0[illegible]. However, the Commission has not finally adopted this list and it is subject to minor changes.

Exemptions from this list total $742,516.00, with homesteads accounting for $512,640 of this. Other exemptions, such as the churches, schools and bublicly owned real estate make a total of $229,867.00.

Reports from Town Hall indicate that a great many more homestead exemptions were applied for this year than before. There are two causes for this, but the main one is that there is a greatly increased list of home owners. Another is the general education of the public as to the opportunity to receive this exemption.

Labor To Be Scarce Says County Agent

Red Mounts says you'd better get hold of all the domestic labor you can and then go down and see Prof. Speer and put in for some Bahamian labor.

There isn't much relief in sight for labor for the Glades for the coming season unless domestic labor is more plentiful than at present indicated.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kirk are announcing the birth of a daughter at Good Samaritan hospital on July 29th.

500 Local Voters Failed To Cast A Ballot Tuesday

128 of the 212 Votes Cast Expressed Favor For Charter Change

Only 212 on the list of approximately 750 qualified voters in the Town of Belle Glade got around to voting in the charter amendment Tuesday, but 128 of these were in favor of the change.

The list had been revised, but there seems to be about 50 names on the list that should be removed, leaving close to 500 either out of town or who passed up this privilege.

It is estimated that only about 150 to 200 voters are away for the summer, so that we have approximately 300 who could have voted who did not.

Maybe this 300 are not interested in schools, roads, or other benefits or emoluments that might accrue to the Town from various county, state or national sources.

Undoubtedly sons, nephews, uncles, fathers, or cousins of most of those who did not vote are in Sicily, North Africa, Alaska, Iceland, or the South Pacific, fighting for a contonuation of the right to vote—some say it's a duty—while a little shower of indifference goaded the natural ennuim to say "Don't Bother."

Anyhow, Belle Glade voters from now on will be denied the pleasure of having a candidate for mayor adopt as his platform the firing or hiring of some particular Chief of Police. They will vote for five Commissioners who in turn will designate one of their number as Mayor, and all of them can tell the [illegible] Commission assembled [illegible] they don't like about the [illegible]ent administration. If [illegible] Commission passes a law [illegible]d then tells the Mayor to [illegible]y on enforcing it, you'll [illegible] who to blame—the Com[illegible]n.

Tilly Walker Given Honors

R. B. (Tilly) Walker has earned the right to the dignified title of Life Underwriter. He has just been notified that he has won the highest award possible by his Company because of the volume of business produced for the year ending June 1, 1943.

Tilly says he hasnt' "peddled gobs of life insurance" but has established estates for beneficiaries, set up trusts for education of minors and provided definite incomes for the aged and provided definite sums for specific purposes on death of the insured, or previously determined dates.

Tilly is a Nylic, a sort of a halo of respectibility given by his company for continuous service, with certain pecuniary benefits which grow with age in service and volume of business on the books. It is sometimes described as a Social Security plan, which is refined insurance adapted to the great masses. In less than five years Mr. Walker will have attained his majority Nylic rating for twenty years service.

Because he first came to the Glades to write insurance fourteen years ago and numbers his acquaintances by the Legion and his policyholders by the scores, and because the Glades has contributed generously towards his graduation to the title L. U. (Life Underwriter)—well over a million dollars of insurance in force—Tilly has invited Glades friends to attend a luncheon at Grove Park Inn, Ashville, N. C. next week and to meet Mr. Geo. Harrison, President of his Company.

Among those expected to attend the luncheon are Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth, Arthur Wells, E. M. Van Landingham, O. G. McWhorter, L. L. Stucky, W. C. Lord and Dr. W. J. Buck.

UNUSUAL EGG IS REPORTED

Mrs. H. E. Frier thinks that one of her hens has broken the records by laying an egg that measured 8 inches the long way and 7 inches around.

Inside the large egg was the regular white of an egg and then inside that was a whole egg of average size that had two yolks.

With this issue we begin our fourth year—Volume IV, No. 1—and ask for a continuance of the generous support of our readers and advertisers.

We know we have a couple of hundred satisfied subscribers—the boys in uniform, for they write to tell us. If your soldier friend or relative isn't getting the paper call 123 and give us his address, for he is entitled to it and we want him to have it.

We also want a picture of that soldier, if we haven't it already. THE HERALD

Home Dehydrators To Be Available By September 1st

The WPB has made provisions for 100,000 dehydrators to be made before September 1st for home use.

If a community or group wants to dehydrate cooperatively they will be given first priority for the purchase of these dehydrators, which will be sold in local stores.

Each dehyrator will be a self-contained food drying unit, complete with its own heating device—and electric heating element, light bulbs or fuel burner. Temperature, humidity, and air flow will be controlled by a fan or blower and a thermostat.

Eight pounds of fresh onions will give you one pound dried in ten hours.

You must store these dried foods in an air tight container

OPA says these machines will cost you between $40 and $80 each.

CLEWISTON GOLFERS TAKE BELLE GLADE

Jay Moran, Pop Kelly, Bill Owens, Mr. Phelps and Mr. Durrence of Clewiston visited the Everglades Golf Club Sunday afternoon and were paired off with Belle Glade golfers for an eighteen hole round.

The Clewiston visitors as paired off trimmed their Belle Glade opponents after handicaps were considered.

The praise of the visitors was high for the excellent results so far by the Belle Glade Club both as to the course and the club house.

Further get-togethers are being considered between the Glades communities and especially mixed crowds. An all day picnic and golfing jamboree between Pahokee, Clewiston and Belle Glade seems to be in the offing.

Saturday Night Dances At Golf Club Attended By Service Men

The weekly get together at the olf Club was well attended last Saturday night according to reports.

Approximately twenty five service men from Clewiston, Camp Murphy and Morrison Field were among the forty or more guests.

Dancing to the music of the Mechanical Phonograph was enjoyed while some of the couples gave Gin Rummy and bridge a whirl.

THANKS FOLKS!

It is indeed encouraging to know that approximately 65 per cent of the votes cast on Tuesday were in favor of the amendment to our Town Charter.

The Commission and I feel that this is a step in the right direction to get our Town on a business footing and enable it to grow in keeping with the marvelous development of the surrounding farming area.

The Glades as a whole, and Belle Glade as the Hub of the area, is destined, we believe to far exceed in normal times the $20,000,000 crops we grew under war pressure this past season.

You will, we know, experience a feeling of satisfaction in the future for having participated in this effort.

Thanks again.

THE MAYOR AND TOWN COMMISSION

U. S. ENGINEERS WANT DIESEL MEN

The U. S. Engineer Department wants some diesel tug boat operators for periods of from one to four months duration.

Masters, mates, engineers, assistant engineers, oilers, deckhands and cooks are wanted, all with high pay.

If you are interested apply at Clewiston or to Morrison Field.

Authority Given To Enter Forcibly During Blackout

The 1943 Legislature gave Governor Holland authority to issue regulations concerning enforcement and liability under Civilian Defense rules concerning dimout and blackout provisions.

The Governor has issued new regulations which provide that proper officials may force entry into any building to enforce the blackout or dimout regulations.

These provide that such entry must cause the least possible damage and that the property must be placed under guard to prevent looting and a report made immediately in detail to the Commander of the Citizens Defense Corps.

Any regular police officer or any properly constituted warden or auxiliary police with arm bands may enter either public or private property, under the new regulations.

SERVICE MEN who FIGHT and WRITE

PVT. DWIGHT CONLEY

Private Conley, son of Mrs. E. D. Conley, is with the Coast Artillery in North Africa. He enlisted in the service seven months ago and before going overseas received his training at Camp Edwards, Mass. Prior to his enlistment he was employed by the Belle Glade Canning Co.

SGT. W. P. RISK, JR.

Sergeant Risk has just returned to Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, New Mexico after spending a fifteen day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Risk.

CARL A. REDMER, S 1/c

Carl Redmer has the rating of seaman first class and is stationed at the Naval Station at Key West. He is with the Pass and Indentification office and is now spending an eight day leave here.

PVT. EMMETT S. ROBERTS

Private Roberts is now stationed at Camp Lee, Virginia. He has just recently been transferred there from Blanding and is receiving his basic training with a quartermaster corps.

F/CAPT. GEO. E. IMES

Flight Captain Imes has just returned to Berks, England, after spending a brief leave here visiting friends. He is stationed at the White Waltham Aerodrome near London and has the duties of an instructor.

LT. M. A. MURPHY, JR.

The following is parts taken from recent letters received from Mike who is now in New Guinea: "We've been working on our tent all day putting a floor in it and raising the sides so we can get more breeze. It's on a good location on the side of a hill and we usually have a good breeze, especially at night.

"We get plenty of fresh fruit, buy it from the natives, (former head hunters). A stalk of bananas cost 2 bob or 2 shilling, (32 cents) and two pineapples for 1 bob. I'm enclosing a one pound note for you to keep as a souvenier. We all had quite a time when we were in Australia trying to make change and figure out how much we were spending for anything.

"Be sure and keep those clippings of this area and when I get home I'll go over them with you and show you which ones I took part in. Had a lovely show the other night. Any mention of Mitchells or B12s may be and probably is my outfit.

"Tell Howard Haney that there is a Lieutenant Richard Barth from Sarasota here in my squadron and says he knows him.

"We now have a full fledged number one boy who cleans out

10,000 Boys and Girls In Uniform and In War Work to Need Activity

Joe Freedlund has been nominated by the Town Council of Belle Glade to represent this Community on a County Wide organization which has as its purpose the provisions of jobs for the 10,000 home boys and girls now in uniform or in some other war endeavor, when they return to civilian life.

Another item in this post war planning is the promotion of the industrial, agricultural and the tourist business of the County to make it, not only the greatest County in the U. S. for winter vegetables, but a self sustaining and home making community of growing citizens with pride in religious, educational and commercial advantages.

Plans for roads, bridges, public buildings, both city, county State and Federal, as well as the promotion of private business buildings and homes will be prepared and studied so that immediate action may be had when the boys begin returning.

Pap, or feeding from the public trough, as such, will be discouraged. Helping our citizens to help themselves by constructive planning and building will be the theme.

The development of tropical fruits for the table as well as for preserves, jams and commercial uses indicates promise while small industries adaptable to our conditions will find a place.

The full development of the cattle fattening now so well begun in the Glades might call for a meat packing house that will necessitate further expansion of beef production locally.

The entire project has been promoted by J. J. Cater President of the West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce, who has been elected temporary Chairman, with P. P. (Little Boy) DeMoya of Pahokee as vice chairman. Each incorporated community of the County has a representative on the Committee appointed by the incumbent Town Commission—16 in all.

Because of the necessity of haste, the Committee met last Friday and prepared a tentative budget to submit to the County Commission, but it was found Monday that the Commission had already included in the budget some items called for by the Committee. The two organizations are getting together this week for the purpose of eliminating duplication of budget items and the matter will be acted on next Monday.

It has been pointed out that Orange, Pinellas and Dade counties have had such organizations for sometime and that they are financed through taxation and that they are popular with the taxpayers.

Alf Neilson, Chas. Warwick, E. M. Anthony, L. M. Studstill and others appealed to the Commission on behalf of this county wide organization.

The tax proposed to provide the necessary funds for operating this project will not effect any home owner with a valuation of less than $5,000. A person with a $10,000 valuation on taxable property will probably be called on to contribute $3.50 per year to this cause.

Seventeen Year Olds Finish High School Or College In Navy

Parents of seventeen year old youths, torn between the desire to consent to their son's enlistment in the Navy and the very understandable wish to see him win his high school diploma —in spite of an impending 18th birthday when he will register under the selective service and no longer be eligible for voluntary Navy enlistment— will welcome the Navy's new educational program which enables the student to continue his studies through the recommendations of his high school principal and upon completing study of the subjects recommended be awarded full credits with his diploma.

The program is not restricted to high school subjects and there is no reason why the young sailor student, after winning his high school diploma, should not continue with fully accredited college subjects.

The Navy's program embraces well over 700 courses and the educational resources of more than 70 leading American universities and colleges.

While it is a well established fact Navy trade schools train over 10 per cent of enlisted personnel in all branches of aviation, radio, electricity, machinist work, combustion engineering, etc., it was not until the present facilities arranged by the War Department for Navy men, that accredited courses in the high schools, colleges and universities were available.

The administration of the program is simple and convenient for the men in the service. When the sailor who has not completed his high school course is ready to begin his extra curricular studies to obtain the credits needed for his diploma, he writes to the principal of his school and asks him to recommend the subjects. The principal's reply is submitted to the sailor's Educational Officer who acquires the necessary courses of study.

When the student is ready to begin his college education he is furnished a list of cooperating colleges and universities showing more than 700 courses of study available to him. The list includes such imposing names as Southern Methodist, Penn State, Oklahoma, Northwestern, Minnesota, Michigan, Louisiana State, University of Florida, Alabama and many others equally as important. He selects his subjects and the institutions accrediting these courses Through the educational officer the student is placed in direct contact with the university or college selected and he is registered by application in much the same manner as he would be if he applied in person.

The cost of the Navy's new educational program is defrayed by nominal fees shared by the student and the Navy. The student pays an enrollment fee of $2.00 for each course taken. Additional fees depend upon the subjects studied and the College or University. Thes average cost is $40.00 of which the Government pays half. This enables

Corn Measured By The Pound of Beef Raised In Glades

E. M. Anthony spent some of his time Monday before the County Commission eulogizing the virtues of the Glades while talking for the recently formed County organization for post war planning.

Doc Blair's 152 bushel per acre Doc Bair's 150 bushel per acre corn produced this past season at the Experiment Station.

It seems that Doc started with 150 varieties of corn for cross polination and fertilizer tests and came up with a better than ten inch ear filled tightly with a corn of varying colors.

Joe Cherry says that he has a crib full of the same general variety stacked up like cord wood at home.

The Inevitable Effect

It is no wonder that the Senate War Mobilization Committee in a recent report declared that the home front is "sagging dangerously." A free people have found themselves shackled by bureaucratic red tape at almost every turn.

They try to increase production—they try to get a war job—they try to raise crops—and in many instances they are slowed down or actually stopped by some restriction, decree or law that has so complicated our economic life that a citizen used to doing things for himself is stumped by a multiplicity of bosses.

Don't forget that the success of our war effort has been due to the drive of free private enterprise. Don't expect to hamstring that enterprise and not confuse and bewilder, and even destroy, the spirit of individual initiative and independence which built, maintained and must perpetuate this nation if our country remans as we have known it.

A Few Facts To Remember

Since the last World War, $10,000,000,000 has been spent for improvements to American railroads. For every dollar additional stocks and bonds, the railroads have spent $10 for additions and betterments. In 1918 there was an average of $10,000 worth of railroad equipment for each man employed. Now each man uses $20,000 worth.

Moving fighting equipment and fighting men, war materials, food and fuel has been the biggest transportation job in history. Railroads in 1943 are moving twice as many ton-miles of freight as in corresponding period in 1918.

Freight rates generally are no higher now than when the war started.

There are 600,000 fewer freight cars in service today than in 1918, but they carry 22 per cent more. The average freight train does more than twice as much work in an hour.

There are 26,000 fewer locomotives than during the first World War, but they are better locomotives and turn out more work per day.

In the first three months of 1943, passenger traffic was virtually double that of the corresponding period in 1918. Troop movements quadrupled those in the first World War.

The general level of railway travel costs in recent years has been the lowest in railway history.

Railroad employes in 1942 averaged 1,271,000, as contrasted with 1,842,000 in 1918, and in 1942 employes received in wages $2,932,000,000, as against $2,614,000,000 in 1918.

Railroad taxes, per dollar of revenue, increased from 4.6c in 1918, to 16.1c in 1942.

Bow Your Head

American citizens should not overlook the fact that John L. Lewis called off his coal strike only on condition that the government would operate the mines. The government strictly obeyed Mr. Lewis' terms. The implications involved in that capitulation of government to labor leader dictatorship, are staggering. The pattern is now perfected to set aside the right to private ownership and operation of property and establish state socialism, strike by strike.

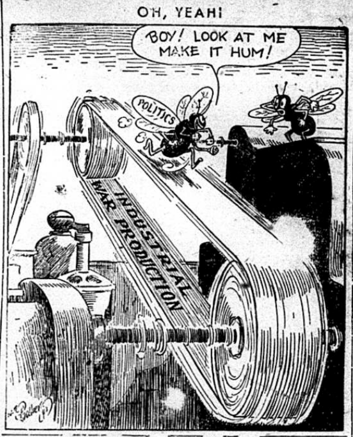

Discussing this situation, the New York Times says: "Mr. Ickes may declare that the government has 'no desire and no plans for nationalization' of the coal industry. He may declare that it hopes to return the mines to private ownership 'at the earliest possible moment.' But meanwhile the government does precisely what Mr. Lewis has demanded.

"Even Mr. Ickes, after saying that he hopes government operation wil be 'exceedingly brief,' adds, 'but I regret to say there is nothing that leads me to believe that this will be so.' And he emphasizes the fact that the government is settling down to a long tenure of operating the mines at Mr. Lewis' insistence by announcing the appointment of Mr. Newton, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, as head of a government organization being built up to operate the mines.

"Thus the United States government, whatever its verbal protestations may be to the contrary, has in its actions accepted the terms of John L. Lewis. It has done nothing to enforce the War Labor Board's order for a contract. And the government will continue to operate the mines, according to Mr. Ickes (meanwhile collecting Mr. Lewis' dues for him) until there is reasonable assurance that the miners will work for private owners. This means that not only the miners, but any other group of workers, can now force government operation of an industry simply by declaring that they will not work for private owners

"What the Administration is saying, in brief, is that it must accept John L. Lewis' terms because it is powerless to do anything else. It might review its labor policies of the last ten years, the one-sided set of laws it has placed on the books, and the one-sided enforcement policies of its agencies, to learn how it came to be so powerless."

And that is a picture before which every redblooded American should bow his head in shame—government impotent before a labor dictator—government violation of private property rights for a labor dictator—government collecting dues for a labor dictator—government powerless to epmloy a workman not sanctioned by a labor dictator—government the puppet of a labor dictator.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Equalizing of gasoline rationing throughout the United States east of the Rock Mountains will be recommended by the Petroleum Administration for War within sixty days. This action, aimed to spread the burden of war equally among all people, will probably result in some increase in gasoline rations in the East and some decrease in the Middle West and Southwest, according to Petroleum Administrator Ickes. It is not anticipated that there will be enough gasoline for driving which is not necessary.

Farmers who sell their corn to a country elevator buying for the Commodity Credit Corporation before August 10 are guaranteed extra payments to cover any increase in corn prices between the date they sell and October 31. Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, has commended farmers who sell corn to relieve shortages in war industries and for feed, and has announced that more than 6 million bushels have been purchased since July 1.

More home canning jars and covers were made in the first five months of this year than in the entire year of 1942, in anticipation of an unprecedented volume of home canning. Housewives will profit from a study of directions that come with each box of jars and covers, for the new three-piece canning top —glass lid, metal screw band, and rubber ring—must be used differently from other types of covers. Quality of jars and covers produced this year, says W PB, is high.

Men discharged from the armed services because of disabilities have a direct contact with the Veterans Employment representative in their own home town through a division of the United States Employment Service. Every attempt is made to inform the veteran of his reemployment rights under the Selective Service Act, help him get special training through the Veterans Administration, and to help him get a job in actual war produtcion work.

Empty beverage bottles should be returned as soon as possible, says WPB's Conservation Division, to relieve the unnecessary drain on essential war production that results when new bottles must be made. All old beverage bottles can be put back into use, because they are completely cleaned and serilized at the bottling plants.

New tires will not be rationed as spares in the next few months except to such persons as firemen and doctors, OPA announced recently. Drivers that do not have a fifth tire usable for a spare occasionally, may get a certificate for a used or recapped tire for that purpose.

Because turkey will be the main course of Thanksgiving Chirstmas and New Year's Day dinners on every battlefront, American turkey raisers have been asked by the WFA to supply about 10 million pounds of turkey meat during August and September for shipping to armed forces overseas. The public is asked to refrain from eating turkeys for a few weeks until this urgent demand for the armed forces has been met. Later in the fall civilians will have a supply of turkey approaching an all-time record production.

Wartime restrictions on building new homes make it important that houses should be kept in good repair, according to Federal Housing officials. New home building is largely restricted to war industry areas and the majority of American families must depend on their present housing for the duration of the war.

A ceiling price of $14.75 per hundredweight, Chicago basis, will be set on live hogs early in August, according to the O PA. This action was concurred in by the War Food Administration. The ceiling is below the 22-year high, but is above prices which live hogs brought before 1942.

Women's rayon hosiery does not have to be labeled as Grade A or Grade B, the OPA said recently, although ceiling price and guage or needle count regulations are still in force. The choice as to whether the Grade A or B mark will be placed on rayon hose is now left to the dealer.

Prisoners of war interned in the U. S. total 65,058, the War Department has announced. Of these 45,355 are Germans, 19,641 are Italians and 62 are Japanese. The Japanese are interned at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, and the others in 37 prisoner of war camps situated in 20 states.

Induction of students 18 or 19 years old may be postponed until the end of their academic year, the selective service board of the War Manpower Commission has announced, if their call to the armed forces comes during the last half of a school year. This applies to students in high schools and similar institutions.

Maximum prices that show an increased return for the farmer over last year have been established for dry onions at the country shipper level. Existing prices at retail will not be raised —and may even be somewhat lower—says OPA.

Farmers who grow potatoes, and potato packers, can now buy as many burlap bags as they did in 1941, according to a recent ruling by the WPB. Previously they could buy only half that amount.

CINEMATIC CHATTER

By Malcolm Millar

No mercy asked . . . no quarter given! A fight to a finish against powers of terror is told in the piercing drama of a woman who could resist only through the man she loved . . . That's the story of "This Land Is Mine," starring Charles Laughton and Maureen O'Hara, with George Sanders, Walter Slezak, Kent Smith and Una O'Connor lending fine support. "This Land Is Mine" is a dramatic experience that you'll never get out of your heart. This great picture will be screened at the Everglades Theatre on the Owl show Saturday and on Sunday-Monday and I urge every American lover of freedom to see it!

That Mexican fire-ball Lupe Velez, long associated with Leon Errol and his delightful comedies, now has a new partner, Eddie Albert, that likeable chap you've enjoyed in so many grade A pictures. They come to the Everglades Tuesday-Wednesday in "Ladies' Day," which is the first out-and-out comedy about baseball and gives a joy-laden depiction of life behind the scenes in a big league ball club.

For the Thursday-Friday offering Greta Gynt with John Clements, Godfrey Tearle, Hugh Sinclair and Judy Kelly bring "At Dawn We Die." This is the first authentic story of the efforts of the French people to throw off the Nazi schackles.

Always a prime favorite with Western adventure pictures, Don "Red" Barry, with a fine supporting cast moves in Saturday in "Jessie James, Jr."

On every program throughout the week I see a fine balance of interesting short subjects to round out every program.

FIGHT AND WRITE

tents, makes our beds, does our laundry and answers our beck and call in general whenever we clap our hands and say, 'wadi, wadi!'. I don't know what in hell wadi, wadi, means but he grins and jabbers a few words and then does whatever we ask, all for the amazing sum of 6 bobs a week which amounts to about 96 cents. He simplifies a very simple life.
